Victim-Christopher Kolling

THE DETAILS SURROUNDING THE CRIME

On August 5th, 1992, Christopher Kolling was last known driving down Superior Ave, Sheboygan, WI, United States. As his friends allege, Christopher Kolling was heading to a pub to have a drink. He would never show up. When they drove back home down Superior Ave they saw his car parked on the side of the road. That is when they contacted local Law Enforcement.

A nearby resident at North 49th Street, Sheboygan, heard a loud pop from the street, and a woman walking her dog in the evening hours saw both Christopher's car and a large black vehicle, likely a truck or van, as the witness describes. The pop was likely the tires of Christopher Kolling's car being ruptured by a sharp object, similar in structure to a police issued Tire Spike Strip. Prior to the incident, local residents describe seeing a large black van or truck "hovering the area".
